It it fail there will probably be a spli in the regulation party in Iowa, as the prohibition as will doubtless accuse the politicians of wavering under the presence of the coupulifican of lowe, who, like the republicand of New York are standing to their promise to legislate for the sentence of the promise to legislate for the sentence of the promise to legislate for the sentence of the presence of the pre the annihilation of the fiquor traffic. Extreme problibationists are sometimes unreasonable If the prohibitory amondment failed in Obic it eas not through lack of republican support. In Idwa the republicans stood by their viedness In tancus at Albany the regulations have lethmound to submit prohib tory amendments to a popular vote. In Kansus and Nebraska they carried the measure at the expense of a raduced vote. The abolitionist used to be as imparient of the republican party as the prohibitionist is now exacting with the same organization. In due time the party aboutshed slavery. A constant presence within it, as well as the necessity of its position, pushes it in against the Unner tenflie, which it is hampering and restraining as far and as fast the conscience and sentiment and sympathy of all good men and women are awakened to the dimensions and deviliables of the business actually going on in the systematic and steady suslavement, degradation and destruction of large classes, with a terrible heritage of suff or ing and woe to innocent victime, and the endilment of enormous burdens on society.

We have a long letter from a traveler setting orth in vigorous style some of the horrors of attempting to east a meal of the quality provid-ed at Wallula Junction. Owing to the length of the letter we cannot print it, but it com-plaint it presents is not too vigorously attend. That undoubtedly, is the worst sating station in the world. It is a disgrace to the northwest, s of the railroad companies owe if to the travcling public and to themselves to see that the bisiness of furnishing meals, at their junction is just into competent hands.
